

You work where?!?!?

- Postal Service employees are prohibited from working for our competitors that deliver mailable matter or for a Commercial Mail Receiving Agency (CMRA) in any capacity.
- Examples of our competitors include FedEx and UPS. The UPS Store is an example of a CMRA.

When you decline a second job with one of our competitors, you avoid a conflict of interest and contribute to the financial success of the Postal Service.

And that's smart business.
