

We're Proud of Our Diverse Workforce

- When considering new hires, remember to include diversity in selection committees. It helps ensure a fair review of applications.
- Each employee brings a distinct background and experiences that help support the Postal Service's mission and goals.

The Postal Service's success is a team effort.

And that's smart business.