

Encrypt or not to Encrypt

- Did you know that some information commonly collected from customers is considered "sensitive" and must be encrypted?
- Common sensitive data elements include, but are not limited to, personal email addresses and a cell phone number that has a name collected at the same time.

Safekeeping of sensitive information is required by Postal Service regulations.

And that's smart business.