Sometimes It's a Bumpy Road

Decision making among team members, or different groups, may not be a smooth process.

- ➢ Give employees a detailed a view of the process or project, from all decision points, to refer to and share.
- ➢ Empower employees to understand how their input matters and where it fits into the team efforts.

Finding agreement over direction, process steps and end goals is a multi-pronged effort that requires clear planning and communication.

And that's smart business!