

Handle With Care!

- Never throw a package when delivering the mail. It's not professional, and it's not a positive image for the Postal Service.
- Many homes have security cameras, and customers can and will post videos of incidents on social media or give them to the media.

Customers expect us to act professionally and treat each package as if it were our own. Delivering packages with care will help us keep our customers.

And that's smart business.
