

SHH!

- Before the rooster crows our delivery trucks are arriving at post offices in residential communities throughout the country.
- But when our trucks arrive, our neighbors are still sleeping. Let them sleep.

Keeping down the noise while we move the mail shows our customers that the Postal Service is a good neighbor.

And that's smart business.