

Payment Card Industry Compliance

- Think of it as building a moat against prying eyes.
- There are three steps you can take during retail transactions to better protect a customer's payment card account number from others:
 - Return cards face down.
 - Don't just put the receipt on the counter – place it in the customer's hand.
 - Ensure the customer's privacy when entering a PIN on a terminal.

Protecting our customers' card data reinforces our reputation as a most-trusted agency and keeps customers doing business with the Postal Service.

And that's smart business.

Learn more about PCI compliance at <http://blue.usps.gov/cyber/pci-training.htm>