

Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Fostering Diversity and Inclusion

- More than one perspective is a good thing.
- Cultivating a variety of perspectives from employees with diverse backgrounds increases creativity and employee engagement, which leads to innovative problem solving and a stronger organizational reputation.
- A stronger organizational reputation improves customer satisfaction, attracts talented applicants, and reduces employee turnover.
- Studies show that diverse companies have greater success. Do your part to continue the Postal Service's long-standing history of fostering diversity through inclusion and collaborative problem-solving.

And that's smart business.