

OSHA Regulations

It's the clause that counts.

The Occupational Safety and Health Act's general duty clause requires employers to provide a workplace that's free from recognized hazards that could cause death or serious physical harm. OSHA standards are built on this clause and focus on specific workplace hazards and ways to protect employees.

Compliance with OSHA standards helps keep employees safe — and prevents the USPS from having to pay unnecessary fines.

And that's smart safety!

For additional information or guidance, contact your safety office.